Optional Comments:: I work in tourism and everyday strike up conversations with people visiting Hibart about how they like it. The replies are universally that they love the city and its low rise feel. They are pretty much horrified when I explain the current battles over height limits. Hobarts low rise feel with clear views to mountains and waterfront and a working port is uniques and should be cherished. I am pro development that emphasises and preserves this. We should be running international architecture competitions to find the best designs that will do just this and lead the field world wide in how we approach development within the city. Although resident on Bruny I work in Hobart and feel strongly about the Chapman s that we have to develop the city with a feel that the next generation will thank us for being so far sighted.

Optional Comments::	The appeal of historic Hobart is its unique combination of natural beauty (harbour, mountain, gardens and buildings, etc) and its history, manifest in the wonderful colonial buildings and the ambience and stories their existence provide. To jeopardize their existence or to destroy historical context of Hobart by permitting ugly and/or constructions which are out of keeping would be utterly tragic. Tourists don't flock to the historic cities of Europe to see modern high-rise or ugly buildings, and nor would they to Hobart should our heritage be so compromised or destroyed. PLEASE love, preserve and value our precious Hobart!

Optional Comments::	I visit family in Hobart annually. While sitting at the waterfront I notice that Mt Wellington is obscured by the high rise buildings. If cruise ships have a similar view line, it does not speak well of planning laws. The big draw card of Hobart is its natural beauty, architecture, heritage and friendly people.
Clicking 'Yes' means that, under section 59 of the Tasmanian Local Government Act, I request Hobart City Council to hold a public meeting about the issues in this petition, as the first step for residents to vote on these issues in an elector poll (under section 60C of the Act). Optional Comments:: The cultural values of Hobart are not just a matter of concern for those living in close proximity to the city centre or with businesses there. They are rightly the concern of all in the greater Hobart area as it is still "our city" in practical terms and could become so legally if proposed council amalgamations become a reality. We feel a sense of place amongst the low rise older buildings where we can still catch glimpses of water even when kilometres from the wharves. We do not want a city where we walk for long stretches in shadow with no views other than the buildings around us. Hobart has its own special character quite different from Sydney and Melbourne and that is why many of us have chosen to live here and so many others visit. This should not be ruined for the short term benefit of a few.

I know damn well that it is both a symbol to the people from another nation that they dominate in our world, and for those in the know, it is also proof. Optional Comments::	I live in Glenorchy. I shop in Hobart, and work in Hobart. I consider Hobart City and the greater Hobart area to be of great historical importance. Once the charm of historical buildings is overshadowed, built-out, and lost, it can never be regained. The reason people come to Hobart is because of the historical charm, not because of multistory/highrise 5-star hotels that have no design in common with the heritage value of the city. Allowing every back yard to be subdivided and built on also is not the answer. All that happens there is that the roads are now choked with too many cars parked.

Optional Comments::	I am not on the City of Hobart electoral role but Hobart is my city where I go for services and recreation and shopping and dining and where I take visitors from interstate and overseas. I consider it my home city. I do not want to see its beauty and amenity spoiled by inappropriate development that will diminish its heritage values, its views of the mountain and the harbour, and that will affect the light and shadow and wind movement through its streets. Hobart City is not a possession of its council, but of all the residents of Tasmania. It is not something to be sold for profit, particularly to those with no love or attachment or understanding of Place that our home is to us.

Optional Comments::	We need to preserve height limits to ensure Hobart's heritage and to prevent it looking like every other city. It's why people come to Hobart. Optional Comments::	While I do not live in Hobart I have an interest in its increasing development and think planners should consider the immense heritage value of the city 'as is'. Also think of a beautiful city like Paris where height considerations are imposed and vital but have not curtailed visitor's interest and love of that city. Developers have a tendency to pay more attention to profit than intrinsic values.

Please respect the reason why people choose to live in and travel to Hobart. Everything that is special about Hobart will be negatively impacted by the proposed changes. Take a good look at European cities of a similar size that have put social and historical values ahead of developers' desires. Developers who don't care about the ambience of Hobart - only about making a buck at the expense of the local community!

Optional Comments::	If steps are not taken as quickly as possible to protect Hobart's special ambience it will become just like any other mainland city full of monstrous, ugly high rise buildings erected by developers who have no interest in a city's heritage, environmental and cultural fabric. Their only interest is to make as much as money as possible where they can and move on to the next target. More high rise buildings lead to more traffic congestion. Melbourne is a great example of unfettered traffic congestion which is at risk of coming to a standstill due to rampant overpopulation. Hobart deserves a better future than this scenario. Keep Hobart the unique and special place it is - the most picturesque and historic city in Australia.

It is unique now but if tall buildings replace Heritage buildings and obscure the view that is so beautiful then EVERYONE LOSES. NSW the southern suburbs of SUTHERLAND SHIRE are out of control, large high rise apartment buildings with their own supermarkets onsite making the local shops obsolete. No SUN shining , TOO many CARS on the road, NO PARKING anywhere. DEVELOPERS appear to have it all their way. Most NSW southern suburbs are like this now. YOU must not let this happen to Hobart. It is Australia's JEWEL NOW try and keep it that way for future generations!

Optional Comments::	Unfortunately I am no longer in the HCC electorate as I have moved to the East Coast town of Triabunna so my vote is not of the greatest value. However, I commute to work in Hobart each day and have lived in the inner city for many years and would like to see Hobart remain low rise with clever sensitive development to maximise what makes this city truly special.

Optional Comments:: Dear Hobart City Councillors, I am a travel agent & spend about 6 months every year running tours around the globe. But, I always love coming home to Hobart. It has a unique character & a magnificent natural setting. I am writing to urge you to protect & preserve the beauty of our city. In particular, I request that you support and maintain current height restrictions for building development in Hobart. We live in a wonderful, unique city and I would like it to stay that way, not become just another city pushing upwards. Cities that preserve their architecture & restrict heights can gain enormously by such actions. e.g. Vienna is currently regarded as the world's most liveable city, and has been near the top of this list for many years. It has a building height limit of 43 metres. It has a population of 1.9 million for the city itself, or 2.6 million in the metropolitan area. Due to its beauty and cultural integrity, the city is listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Similarly, Rome, a tourist mecca for all the world has very strict height restrictions throughout the central & historic areas. Both cities gain charm & attraction from their decision to preserve the heritage & restrict the height of new buildings. I firmly believe council should support the professional Planning Officers' recommendations regarding absolute maximum building heights, and the protection of heritage buildings and view-lines. The fact that the Planning Officers' recommendations were not debated by the Planning Committee, nor by the full Council is a matter of some concern & one that I believe should be rectified. Yours sincerely, Geoffrey W Batten. 20 Banawarra Road, Geilston Bay.

Optional Comments:: I am not living in Hobart and so I am not on the Hobart electoral roll own a house in MacFarlane Street, South Hobart. I love this beautiful city which is full of light and has the building heights at a human scale, not high-rise. Go to any high rise city in the world and you'll see the same lifestyle: disconnected, shadowy streets and the people diminished by the scale of the buildings. Hobart is not like this and that is why it is still an amazing place to be!

Optional Comments::	Though not residents of Hobart my partner and I have enjoyed visiting the city for almost forty years. Of course all cities' populations will grow. But Rome and Paris have managed to keep their buildings in the historic centres to a maximum of six stories and many are only are three stories. It would be wonderful if Hobart could continue to be the attractive, vibrant city it is, without increasing the number of high rise buildings. Our city, Melbourne, has unfortunately not managed to do that.

Optional Comments:: Height limits and city planning will impact everyone in Hobart and surrounding areas, not just those in the City of Hobart electorate. I for one have been living in Battery Point for the last 6 months after the May '18 storms, and have worked in Hobart for the entire time I've lived in Tasmania. Seems a shame to think my voice doesn't hold as much weight as someone who happens to have the 'right' zip code.

Clicking 'Yes' means that, under section 59 of the Tasmanian Local Government Act, I request Hobart City Council to hold a public meeting about the issues in this petition, as the first step for residents to vote on these issues in an elector poll (under section 60C of the Act). The issues are: I call on Hobart City Council to 1) introduce absolute maximum building heights 2) protect Hobart's heritage buildings, and 3) protect Hobart's view-lines, all as per the City of Hobart's professional Planning Officers' recommendations to the Planning Committee on the 10th December 2018. These recommendations were not debated at this Planning Committee meeting, nor at the Council meeting the following week.:

Optional Comments:: I shall be relocating to Sandy Bay as of 26 January 2019 and I am very concerned that unless Council takes a firm stand the very things that make Hobart stand out from the other Australian capital cities will be lost. Protect what is special about Hobart and don't succumb to the development lobby's traditional complaints/concerns. We need a different quality of development in Hobart - high rise is not it, given the poor social and environmental outcomes it will have due to the lack of human scale, overshadowing and creation of wind tunnels. Let's place social and environmental value dimensions above the economic one that seems to dominate our decision making. We only have planet and our local decisions are critical to ensure ongoing livability.

Even more importantly it works for the residents of the Greater Hobart area. Totally agree with all of your comments.
